

Beth Desjardin

Fletcher Memorial Library has a new librarian. Beth Desjardin, who has been running the library on a temporary basis, has been hired to fill the position. One of our long serving and invaluable volunteers, Beth has worked nine hours a week for the last six years to help keep Fletcher running smoothly.

Although her previous professional work was in accounting, Beth can honestly say that she started out in library science. She was a teenaged page in her local library and she has never lost her love for books. Friendly and efficient, Beth is an enthusiastic reader, always willing to share information about a new author or a good book. She knows our patrons and is familiar with all the necessary programs and procedures.

We are fortunate to have her services.
